

Line graph - a graph that uses points connected by lines to show how something changes in value (as time goes by, or as something else happens).

