

Quotient - The result of division; the number of times one quantity is contained in another.

